"I'm very happy to be making a quick return to the ring, especially on NBC," said Guerrero. "It's an honor to be fighting at StubHub Center once again as the main event. I'm going to bring it like always and give the fans an exciting fight. I can't wait for the bell to ring!"

"I'm very thankful for the opportunity to fight Robert Guerrero on network television," said Martinez. "Since my last fight, I've been in the gym working extremely hard. I want to shock the world and beat 'The Ghost.' Make no mistake about it, I'm coming to win."

"I am so happy to be getting back in the ring so soon after my last fight [March 13]," said Arreola. "The opportunity to stay busy and fight at StubHub Center is great and I plan on showcasing my skills."

"I am grateful for the chance to fight on such a great card in Southern California where I have fought several times before," said Angulo. "I see this as an important fight for me and I know that the fans won't be disappointed."

"We're very excited to return to StubHub Center and work with the NBC team on an action-packed card" said Tom Brown of TGB Promotions. "Robert Guerrero and Aron Martinez will provide fireworks from the opening bell in the main event and we'll be adding a full card of terrific undercard fights for a complete afternoon of entertainment for Southern California fight fans."

The 32-year-old Guerrero out of Gilroy, California owns victories over Andre Berto, Selcuk Aydin and Michael Katsidis. He most recently electrified fans with an exciting performance against Keith Thurman on the inaugural PBC card on March 7 of this year. A former world champion in four weight classes, Guerrero looks to put on another outstanding performance on June 6 at StubHub Center.

Born in Uruapan, Michoacan de Ocampo, Mexico, but fighting out of East Los Angeles, Martinez makes his StubHub Center debut on June 6. The 33-year-old turned pro in 2005 and won his first seven starts before a technical draw in 2007 against Vito Gaspayran. A tough fighter Martinez strung together 10 straight victories between 2009 and 2012..

The 34-year-old Arreola defeated Curtis Harper in a thrilling heavyweight showdown on March 13 in Ontario, Calif. Born in Escondido, Calif. but fighting out of Los Angeles, Arreola has long been one of the most feared punchers in the heavyweight division. Having challenged the best in the division, Arreola knows what it takes to succeed at this level and looks to entertain his hometown fans on June 6.

A hard fighting Mexican warrior born in Mexicali, Baja California, Mexico but fighting out of Coachella, Calif., Angulo is looking for a big victory in front of his adopted hometown fans. Always ready to challenge the best in the sport, the 32-year-old has gone toe-to-toe with some of the best fighters in the world and holds knockout victories over Gabriel Rosado, Joachim Alcine and Joel Julio.

A fast-rising star out of Buenos Aires, Argentina, Cuellar looks to make it 10 victories in a row when he battles Darchinyan on June 6. His power in both hands has led him to six knockouts of his last nine victories including a second round destruction of Puerto Rican icon Juan Manuel Lopez in Sept. 2014. The 28-year-old will make his first career start in California when he enters the ring at StubHub Center.

Looking to put himself back into the discussion of top featherweights, the 39-year-old Darchinyan comes in with the kind of experience to topple the explosive Cuellar. A former world champion, the fighter from Armenia who fights out of Glendale, California is coming off of a ninth-round TKO over Juan Jimenez in February of this year. Having fought against top contenders such as Abner Mares, Nonito Donaire and Nicholas Walters, Darchinyan also owns victories over Yonhhy Perez, Jorge Arce and Cristian Mijares.
